ImratGroup

It is a company working at the intersection of technology and innovation, combining artificial intelligence, medicine, green energy and blockchain. We make money by providing liquidity to major exchanges, investing in pre-IPOs and IPOs, generating revenue from the listing of digital assets and investing in venture projects in medicine and green energy. Imrat Group creates a powerful investment ecosystem, enabling partners to not only grow capital but also participate in global change.

Co-operation with major exchanges

Imrat Group is a professional market maker and provides liquidity algorithms for exchanges such as Binance, NYSE, NASDAQ, ByBit and OKX. Partnerships with leaders in equity and digital trading enable Imrat Group to be among the first buyers when listing new tokens and public offerings, allowing them to capitalise on the first momentum of the quotes.

Renewable Energy

Imrat Group's business model is based on supporting promising start-ups at an early stage, their development and further entry into the market through the sale of shares and receiving dividends from their proceeds. The company actively invests in renewable energy projects, including solar, wind and geothermal sources, as well as in startups creating technologies to reduce carbon footprints and improve air and water quality.

Pre-IPO, IPO And ICO

Our team supports promising digital projects at all stages of their development - from protocol launch to token listing on exchanges. Our company focuses on Web3, meta-universe and decentralisation technologies that can transform the digital industry. The main revenue is generated after the asset is listed on partner exchanges such as Binance and ByBit, where Imrat Group gets the opportunity to be among the first to sell tokens and earn on their growth. In addition, IG actively participates in funding rounds and IPO investments, which has allowed it to build a balanced portfolio that includes both medium and long-term investments. This portfolio provides high returns over the long haul, combining stable growth with significant profit potential.

Medical Technology

By investing in companies involved in the development of vaccines, prosthetics and biotechnology products, Imrat Group builds a sustainable and low-risk investment portfolio that promotes long-term capital growth. However, the main priority of this line of business is the opportunity to participate in critical decisions that can change the world for the better.

Venture - a new economy, an understanding that all market players need

In a world of changing technology and market conditions, access to relevant and effective tools is becoming a key success factor. If you ignore venture capital, you can quickly find yourself behind breakthrough companies, business models and high returns.

Users will be able to receive detailed trading statistics and daily reports from the previous session immediately after the markets close. This will ensure open and reliable access to market information for all stakeholders.
